all roads lead to eastlands

Standing high on Werneth Lowe
The city streets stretch out below
Welcome to the fabric of my life
These ancient hills and moorland heights
Silhouettes to the sunrise
The chimneys shadows sundial counts the time

All those bits and pieces
All those streets and houses
All roads lead to Eastlands
All those towns and places
All those lives and faces
All roads lead to Eastlands

I see the tower blocks of Lowryville
Here and there satanic mills
Shipwrecks of the revolution
Waiting for a new solution
In shades of lead and as heavy too
The rain descends and I lose the view
I turn my collar and head back to the car

We never made love behind the stadium
So much for the song and Van Morrison
There was no grass and your eyes weren't brown but blue
So as I descend down through the cloud
And I make my way there with the crowd
I'm clear now who I love and that is you
